

Queen Camel Parish Council

Community Benefit Fund

Panel members wanted; nominations still open

As was advertised in the April edition of The Camels and on the Parish Council website a Community Benefit Fund has been established to receive the royalties from the developers of the solar farms on the Sutton Montis Road. The Parish Council has formed a working group to be called the Community Benefit Fund Panel to make recommendations to it on how the money should be allocated to village projects. The Panel will comprise both councillors and other residents.

The Parish Council is again asking parishioners who would like to be considered for the Panel to put their names forward by 9 June 2021 as it deferred making any decision on the panel membership at its April meeting. This deferment was agreed so that the Council could consider as wide a field of candidates as possible.

The Council should then decide at its June meeting on the five parishioners who should be on the Panel to join councillors Sue Gettings and Dan Hewlett, who have currently been nominated to fill the two council member positions.

Any parishioners who would like to be considered should write to clerk@queencamelpc.org.uk with a short description of what they believe they would bring to the Panel, accompanied by a brief CV.

More background on the Panel, its terms of reference, how often it is likely to meet and the guidance to the organisations who are making applications for grants, can be found on the Parish Council website. If you need further information please contact a councillor or the clerk and they will help you.

Joining this Panel will be an excellent opportunity to get direct involvement in village affairs and in helping decide on which projects should be promoted in the parish.
